FOOTBALL INNOVATION.

Game Will Be Played at Night for First Time.

Chicago, Dec. 19.—Warriors from the Catholic Indian school of the University of Wisconsin will meet on the football field of the College tonight. This is the first time in the history of the game that a big match has been held at night, and the result will have much to do with determining the form of future college football. The game will be played at 8 o'clock. Gould, of Annapolis, has been decided on for referee. The choice of umpire rests between Everett Wren, of Harvard, who is a resident of Chicago, and McKeen, of Lehigh. The matter will not be settled until the teams line up for the contest.

Both teams arrived in the city yesterday, and were the center of a curious crowd. The Indians came early in the morning and attracted general attention. The squad from Pennsylvania comprised forty-three men, besides Disciplinary Thompson, who is in charge of the eleven. They were quartered at the Palmer House. The Wisconsin team, accompanied by half a hundred rosters, arrived yesterday afternoon.

BASEBALL NOTES.

Goeckle, the ex-University of Pennsylvania first baseman, may get a chance to don a Pittsburgh uniform.

The headquarters of the Atlantic Baseball League will be transferred from New York to Philadelphia. This is announced by President Ed. Burrows.

Vice President Deller, of the Louisville Club, is authority for the statement that negotiations will soon be concluded with John Ward whereby he is to become manager of the Louisville Club. President Stucky is now in New York, and Deller says that Louisville will agree to an exchange of outfielders. Clarke for Pitcher Ruse, and if the latter will consent to play in Louisville a deal will be made.

A. C. Ruckelshaus, the ex-National League manager, who, at the late meeting of the Eastern League, introduced and fought through the resolution against "farming," has bought the release of Tim Lincecum, Smith and First Baseman Lezotte, of Pittsburgh, for the Syracuse Club. It is said the price paid was $1,500. Lezotte was purchased last year from Wilkes-Barre, and was given a trial on first base, but he failed to come up to expectations.

Anson, who has usually been willing to play the national game under any rules whatever, so long as the ball and bat were not barred out, now comes forward with a few suggestions. He would like rules so framed that a manager could take a man out and put him in the game again at his discretion, and he would like to have all reference to "trapped ball" eliminated, so that the play could again be worked to the utter discomfiture of the base runner.

Then, if the League will undertake to define a balk, and the umpires will undertake to enforce the rule against it, the veteran captain will be perfectly satisfied.

Skater Mosher Injured.
 New York, Dec. 19.—Howard Mosher, the skater, cut his left foot while practicing in Central Park yesterday, and it is not likely he will be able to meet Joe Donoghue at the St. Nicholas rink this evening in their third match race.

AMONG THE BICYCLE CLUBS

What is Doing With and Without the Wheels.

MEETING DAYS AND RACES

District Guard Cycle Corps to Have a Snoker Just After Christmas. Queer Wheelmen a Donation Party on Christmas Day—Officers Elected and New Members Added.

The local bicycle world, like Mr. Rabbit, is laying low until this cold weather shall have passed.

Not only are runs conspicuous by virtue of their infrequency, but the clubs themselves have undergone a metamorphosis. Having taken on the attributes of nature and quality, if not the appellation, of social and pleasure clubs strictly and exclusively.

Like the popular coalescence of quinine and whiskey, with the quinine left out, the cycling clubs at present are bicycle clubs with the quinine left out.

Only spasmodic attempts are made in the way of runs, whose participants are generally two or three, and whose distances are a matter of a few miles.

It is a matter of considerable regret on the part of the local "wheelmen" that the most popular roads, the Marlboro and the Conduit, are in winter the most exposed to the assaults of "Old Boreas." The former thoroughfare has the full benefit of the broad and comparatively level surface of Prince George farms, while the latter is a narrow, crooked, and hilly road, so far as river gales are concerned.

Perhaps the most satisfactory path to the venturesome wheelman who seeks to affiliate novelty and a certain amount of danger with the smooth, safe, and comfortable meteorological conditions, is the road of the Pennsylvania railroad between this city and Baltimore. Unlike the Baltimore and Ohio, this roadway is gravel-ballasted, thus insuring a path between the tracks as smooth, to all practical purposes, as a waxed floor.

In conjunction with the protection from the winter zephyrs, afforded by the bordering hills and forests, is the route into popular consideration, and is not uncommon to see ambitious knights of the pedal streaking for Baltimore and return.

COTTAGE TAKOMA.

The Cyclists' Cottage, at Takoma, still allures a large number of wheelmen to get outside of the gloomy array of eatables and drinkables stored therein.

Perhaps the most formidable road at this season is that bugbear of bugbears to the cyclist's heart, the Pike to Baltimore, via Bladensburg. It would be a good idea to place a photograph of that road in every clubhouse and every private dwelling, in whose basement or hall reposes a wheel.

There could be but one result. In contrast to the road, even G street, would seem a waxed floor.

Looked at from a business standpoint the local field is decidedly dull. Some few of the firms have received their consignments of the new year's stock of wheels, but the majority have yet to hear from headquarters in that connection. Prospective buyers are waiting for the market to become more fully stocked before venturing investments.

The renting departments of the various stores are doing fairly active business and the dealers are holding their own with hands down. The future, however, is of a promising nature, and there is every prospect for an encouraging trade the coming year.

QUEER WHEELMEN MEET.

At a meeting of the Queer Wheelmen Thursday night John M. Bundy was elected chairman of the club, to succeed George E. Boyd, resigned. Mr. Bundy is a young business man, and is very popular among the local bicycle fraternities.

He has ordered a run of the club for 2 o'clock tomorrow, and has extended a general invitation to all unattached wheelmen to attend. The amusement committee is actively engaged in formulating plans for the edification of the club.

It has completed preparations for a stag party at an early date, and has in view a donation party for Christmas day.

The New Year will be suitably ushered in by a winter party at the club, to which the members of the club and their lady friends. The evening will commence with a literary and musical entertainment from 8 to 10; dancing will follow from 10 to midnight, and last, but not least, refreshments will be indulged in from midnight to 1 o'clock.

A practice game of basketball will be played with the Carroll Institute Hall Monday evening at Carroll Institute Hall.

COLUMBIA ATHLETIC.
 The bicycle corps of the Columbia Athletic Club have decided on the first Sunday of January for their midwinter run. The route has not yet been agreed upon.

On the 26th they will be holding a general club in an athletic smoker that has been arranged by Prof. Crossley.

The board of governors has issued a permit for a musicale on January 15, for which the best local talent will be secured. The Music Club has given a special meeting last Monday for the election of officers. W. S. Miller was elected president; Pierce Brett, vice president, and Brice Bowie, secretary.

A committee on rules, consisting of W. S. Miller, Brice Bowie and Fred Smith, and a membership committee, consisting of Charles Babcock, Arthur Hurley and Frank Moore, were inaugurated.

This enterprising club was organized December 1, with a membership of nine, and its rolls are steadily being augmented. Among its interesting projects is the holding of a winter athletic competition to undergraduate students, but the five other universities united in opposing such a law.

More trouble lies in store for the projectors of the proposed Southern trip of the Yale consolidated football eleven. The Yale management has shifted disquietingly on the scheme, and has warned the players that any member who goes, is liable to be disqualified from playing next year, because he will be made a professional through playing on the same eleven with Coaches Sword, Morris and Hammond.

At a meeting of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association of Baltimore, last night, a resolution was passed to hold a sporting carnival in that city in 1898 were submitted, which met with the approbation of all present. It was proposed to build a speedyway boulevard for wheelmen, either on the Pinch road or the Heisterstown turnpike, and to complete it by the year 1898 with a sporting carnival, which shall combine all sorts of outdoor sports, with prizes of such character as will bring together the best athletes of all countries.

Cornell's aquatic season of 1897, gives promise of being the most successful in the history of the college. The recent fall regatta showed a spirit of interest in navy affairs that speaks well for the prospect of turning out fine crews next spring. With three upper-class crews on the water, in the fall of the year, rowing such an interesting race in the fast time of 7:13 over the mile, it is certain that the material from which to make a "tapsie" when the crews go into winter training, is sure to be above the average.

PRIZES FOR THE RACES.
 Prizes have been offered as follows: Two gold medals for first and time prize; mirror, from Doremus & Just; club sweater, from Parker, Bridget & Co.; sweater, from Saks; searchlight, from E. S. Maloney; four pump, from E. Y. Dierley; bicycle, from Ed. Danenowick; pair of tires from Morgan & Wright and pair of tires from the New York Tire Company. There will be twenty starters. The time limit is fixed at eight minutes.

At last Tuesday's meeting of the club E. S. Dierley and Albert Matthei were elected members. The club has adopted gold and white as their emblem.

The bicycle corps of the District soldier boys will give a smoker the first Monday after Christmas. The company has been ordered to proceed to a point a mile above Calista John Bridge, to go into camp, returning tomorrow afternoon.

definitely. S. A. Ferguson, Dr. L. W. Munson, John McCormick, Ed. Jackson and Ed. Davidson have recently been added to the rolls of the company.

The Capital City Club will give a Christmas tree. The occasion will be one for unlimited merriment, the presents proposed being of a humorous rather than an expensive character. The club is resting quietly on its laurels at present, or rather on the laurels of the department, whose exhibit is of more than average excellence.

GENERAL SPORTING NOTES.

Oxford University athletes have threatened to withdraw from the London Athletic Club if professionals are not barred from its membership.

A cablegram from Moscow last night stated that there was to be no change in the program of the match yesterday, Lasker claiming an off day.

Harvard's inability to accept Yale's offer to row practically means that the negotiations will now cease, and that Yale and Harvard will not get together this college year.

Pittsburg will have a bench show in February. The Duquesne Kennel Club is a member of the grand circuit, and Pittsburg's date will be just following the bench show in Chicago.

Tommy Connell is with his people in Kildare, Ireland, and says that he will not run again until next spring, when he will be under the management of some Kildareman who is credited with having first brought him out.

Charles H. A. Eling, of the West Philadelphia Club, who represented the Schuylkill Navy at the Henley regatta in 1895, is now traveling through Germany. He was among the Americans present at the opening of the Dresden Golf Club links last month.

University of Pennsylvania will send a team as usual to the inter-collegiate relay race at the Boston Athletic Association games on February 7 to meet Harvard, and will probably also send a team to represent her in the walk, the distance races, and high and broad jumps.

Yale's hockey team yesterday received a knock-out blow in the burning of the Casino at Pittsburg. The team was scheduled to play four games in that building, beginning tonight. Yesterday's blaze burned the Casino to the ground, and the Yale team has been compelled to give up the trip.

Full rowing at Yale is over. It is considered that the university eight is as far advanced in watermanship as crewswomen are by the end of March. Tank work will be in January, as usual, when some of the most promising candidates, who have been playing football, will be able to row.

At a recent intercollegiate athletic convention in Chicago there were representatives present from Michigan, Minnesota, Northwestern, Purdue, Illinois, Chicago and Wisconsin. Purdue University and the University of Illinois proposed a rule limiting athletic competition to undergraduate students, but the five other universities united in opposing such a law.

More trouble lies in store for the projectors of the proposed Southern trip of the Yale consolidated football eleven. The Yale management has shifted disquietingly on the scheme, and has warned the players that any member who goes, is liable to be disqualified from playing next year, because he will be made a professional through playing on the same eleven with Coaches Sword, Morris and Hammond.

BERATED THE CONDUCTOR

Mr. Tolson Helped Senator Hoar Upon His Car.

AGED SOLON GOT VERY ANGRY

Caused the Temporary Dismissal of a Fourteenth Street Line Employee Because He Was Offended by the Professed Help—Passengers Say the Statesman Was Wrong.

Passengers on a Fourteenth street cable car, a few evenings since, witnessed an exciting incident between Hon. George F. Hoar, the senior member of the upper house from the State of Massachusetts, and Mr. C. Tolson, secretary of the treasury.

The venerable Senator from the Bay State had finished his arduous duties at the Capitol, and was on his way home about 6 o'clock in the evening.

At the corner of Sixth street and Pennsylvania avenue he signaled a Fourteenth street car, and when it came to a stop started to board it.

The old gentleman has passed the allotted age of three score years and ten, but is still sprightly, and always spurs the insinuation that he is feeble or needs assistance.

Everyone who has seen the Senator has observed his stammering gait, and Conductor Tolson, noticing it, stood aside on the platform, after opening the door, and reaching down, caught the solon under the arm and gave him a friendly lift.

This was an assistance to the company's instructions to assist aged people, and in fact was nothing more than common politeness and good manners, but the Senator did not take kindly to it, and failing to accept the kindness in the manner in which it was intended, his wrath exploded.

According to the testimony of the passengers, the Senator's language was anything but complimentary or expressive of gratitude. He gave full vent to his sentiments regarding conductors who do not mind their own business, and gave the man to understand that he was able to get on and off a car without anybody's aid.

Immediately there was consternation in the car, and several passengers spoke to the late lawmaker, and attempted to pacify him, but this only added fuel to the flame, and the car was delayed for some few moments, pending a settlement of the difficulty.

RAISED HIS STICK.

In the midst of it all the Senator, it is said, raised his heavy walking stick and attempted to strike the conductor, but was prevented by some one taking hold of his arm.

The conductor tendered his apology for what he had done in assisting Mr. Hoar into the car, but the reply he is alleged to have received was that upon a similar occasion once in Boston town, a street car conductor had attempted to make him out an invalid and as a reward had received a blow from that same conductor.

The conductor's language was anything but complimentary or expressive of gratitude. He gave full vent to his sentiments regarding conductors who do not mind their own business, and gave the man to understand that he was able to get on and off a car without anybody's aid.

Immediately there was consternation in the car, and several passengers spoke to the late lawmaker, and attempted to pacify him, but this only added fuel to the flame, and the car was delayed for some few moments, pending a settlement of the difficulty.

Among the passengers were Mrs. Powers, wife of Rev. Dr. Powers, of the Vermont Avenue Christian Church, and her daughter, and a number of other prominent people, who were surprised by the Senator's intemperate actions.

CONDUCTOR LAID OFF.

The next day Conductor Tolson was called before Mr. Dunlop, the president of the road, and listened to a three-page typewritten set of charges which Senator Hoar had prepared against him, accusing the conductor of assault, improper remarks, and various other offenses, to which he pleaded not guilty.

After a reprimand Mr. Dunlop was inclined to dismiss the matter, but this would not satisfy the Bay State Senator, who insisted on his own conduct, and the young man revised his notes, and his name would be dropped from the payroll for thirty days, which means a loss of $60 for his politeness.

Apologies, entreaties and the personal interference in behalf of Tolson by Dr. M. C. McDonough, 1206 21st st. n. w., who had been with the Senator at the time of the affair, all of whom now state that the Senator was wrong, and many evengose far as to say that he acted in an ungentlemanly manner.

As a result the employees of the board have taken up the matter, and interesting developments are expected. Mr. Tolson has been employed by the company for several years, is said to have always borne an excellent reputation, and never has had any charges entered against him before, and the loss of his wages, and the alleged injury to his reputation, may result in his carrying the matter further into court.

Ample notice having been given that the opportunity positively closes January 1, and that it will under no circumstances or on no condition be extended beyond that date, Dr. McCoy desires to add emphasis to the purpose of this extension, to avoid the scenes of hurrying and confusion which were so annoying to patients and physicians alike, Dr. McCoy respectfully asks, for his sake and for their sake, that all those who desire to avail themselves of the opportunity of the $3 rate make their application at once, rather than wait until the last few days of the month.

Dr. McCoy desires that no person be denied this opportunity. He has done all in his power to make the limit of time known, and those who come during the last days of December and find it is physically impossible for Dr. McCoy to see them, will have only themselves to blame, when, after January 1, they are obliged to pay Doctor McCoy's regular fee, for while Doctor McCoy's office and Doctor McCoy's practice are permanent in Washington, the period during which advantage can be taken of the $3 rate is not permanent; it ends positively with the end of the year.

All who place themselves under treatment before January 1st will be treated until cured at the uniform rate of $3 a month. This rate covers all expense of examination, treatment and medicines and includes Deafness and all diseases.
